Reading for Our City Fathers, Text .- "The laborer is worthy of his hire."

This scriptural truth is generally acknowledged, but there is in almost every occupation a sad difference of opinion between employer and employee, as to what the proper amount to be paid as hire should be. Corporations, as a general thing, are notedly less liberal in dealing with their employees than private parties. Why this should be so we cannot conceive, but it is the fact, as witness the salaries of our city able premiums. ion across a wide and variegated lan lecape school teachers. No class of laborers have finely decorated by the hand of nature, can a greater strain or tax upon the intellect, the patience and the body; none require more time and labor to qualify them for their work, and no work (outside the Gospel Ministry) of such value and responsibility | fifty-five cents. as the school teacher's. And yet no class of laborers receive salaries so inadequate to their wants and so little remunerative for the honest service rendered. And what is most remarkable, when an honest effort a majority of the Ci.y Council meet and defeat the movement, not on the principle that "supply and demand regulate these matters," but on the score of "economy." The majority of our city teachers receive an annual stip nd of only $300, less than one-half the amount received by teachers in any other city in the South. What an extraordinary inducement for a young man or woman to prepare him or herself as an instructor of the youths of our city!

> Now, these laborers (teachers) spend from three to six years close application learning their trade; with this difference the boy is being paid during his appren-ticeship, while the teacher not only receives no pay, but is actually at large expense for books and tuition.

They only could give him authority to offer a sum for them, but he never asked for such authority. He knew they were then to be had. They did not. It was in the line of his business to know to say. But it is an injustice to charge the Trustees with a "sin of omision" in the affair. Suppose, though, they had refused also went down, but all were saved.
